BLOODY DUEL.

They Fought With Swords and One Was Slain.

The Marquis De Mores Kills Capt. Mayer Near Paris.

This Was a Duel Between the Two Men To the Death-The Marquis and His Seconds Have Been Placed Under Arrest For the Captain's Murder.

PARIS, June 25 .- A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the Marquis de Mores and the seconds in the duel of Thursday, which resulted in Capt. Mayer's death. The Marquis says that the conditions of the duel were such that no fatal result was to have been expected.

It was agreed that the duel should be fought with swords. The duelists were not to come to the closest quarters, and were to cease when one of the combatants received a wound that would place him in a position inferior to his adver-

When all the preliminaries had been arranged and the duelists had taken their positions the usual signal was The marquis made a direct thrust with his weapon, which was parried by Capt. Mayer.

The marquis again made a rapid lunge, his rapier passed through Capt. Mayer's guard and pierced his body be-low the armpit. The marquis, seeing what had occurred, immediately disengaged his weapon and leaped back on his own ground. Capt. Mayer dropped his sword, exclaiming:

"I am badly hit," and fell to the and asked permission to shake hands, and Capt. Mayer assented.

once attended to the wounded man, and as soon as he was made comfortable he was taken to the hospital, where he died. Capt. Mayer had careknowledge that he was to fight a duel.

The marquis said Friday that the action of the magistrates in ordering his arrest would not "prevent the prosecution of the work we have undertaken,' adding, "personal questions are nothing; principles are all in all. We are but at the beginning of a civil war."

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

A Torpedo Instructor Blown Into Frag-

LONDON, June 25 .- A serious accident. caused by the temerity of a torpedo inon board the Nile, one of the most for- him. midable of England's armored vessels, and attached to the Mediterranean squadron. An instructor in the use of torpedoes, named Corbet, trying to force a detonator a mining charge of guncotton, when the gun-cotton exploded, blowing a hole in the deck of the vessel and killing Corbet and a seaman who was assisting him. Corbet was blown almost to fragments, and a portion of his body struck Lieut. Stanley T. Dean Pitt, who was standing near by, covering that officer with blood. Commander Thomas MacGill, of the Nile, also had a narrow escape from injury.

A Gold Cure Patient Dies. MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 25 .- J. J. Brooks, a well-known attorney, formerly assistant attorney general, died at the Southern Bi-Chloride of Gold institute. The first hypodermic injection of bichloride of gold made him a raving maniac and it required four strong attendants to prevent him injuring the other inmates. Last night he displayed all the symptoms of hydrophobia and died in convulsions.

The Sun Has a Good Word for Hill. New York, June 25 .- The Sun says of Senator Hill: "He has been fairly and squarely beaten at Chicago, and squarely and fairly he has borne himself in the contest from beginning to end. The New York democrats are with him, in failure as in success, and he will be with them as long as there is a political principle to defend, a republican antagonist to out-general, or an election to carry for the democracy."

A Negro Assassinated.

WINCHESTER, Tenn., June 25.- A fatal shooting took place in this city. Rufe Williams, colored, was on the way to the post office, when some unknown person approached in the dark and without a word shot him down. Williams was a peaceable, quiet, hard working boy, and only lately came here from Murfreesboro, and had never had any trouble. Awful Fate of an Old Farmer.

Tsov, O., June 25.-Clark Stewart, 92 years old, was torn by hogs at his home, two miles north of Troy. His shoulder was torn off, his face mutilated and arm stripped of the flesh. He is the oldest settler in this county living. When aid reached him the hoga were still erunching his bones. He has small chances of recovery.

EX-PRISONERS' WANTS.

At the close of the business meeting the members of the association adjourned to Gant park, where preparations had been made to feed 1,000 persons. A campfire took place at the opera house Thursday evening, addressed by Department Commander Mack of Sandusky and others. The place of the next meeting will be determined by the executive commit-

SET A TRAP

And the Game Proved to Be a Dead Burglar. FRANKFORT, Ky., June 25.-For some time a burglar has been robbing the eash register in Fracel Bros', meat store. Determined to catch him, the butchers fixed a 45-caliber Winchester rifle to a meat block in such a way that the least pull on the rear door ground. The marquis then advanced would pull the string and explode the gun. The family who live upstairs heard the gun go off, and hurrying to The surgeons who were present at the rear yard they found the burglar dead. The bullet pierced through his abdomen killing him instantly. He was identified as John Daley, 17 years old, the son of an honest farmer. There fully concealed from his relatives all was no suspicion that young Daley was Drought in Northern Mexico Causes Distress.

No Rain Has Fallen in Many Places For Several Years.

Blooming Gardens Converted Into Arid Wastes-Hungry, Clamorous Sufferers Pollow a Construction Gang and Eat the Offals of the Lank Horses.

DURANGO, Mex., June 25.—The recent reports from the City of Mexico stating that the drought in the northern part of the republic had been broken by bountiful rains is incorrect, so far as the state of Duragno and Coahuila are concerned. With the exception of one light shower about two months ago there has been absolutely no rain here for the past four and a half years. The farmers have given up all hopes of raising a crop this season, and thousands of acres of rich land, upon which splendid crops of corn and cotton were formerly raised, are now barren of all vegetation, and the whole state of Durango and Coahuila, with the exception of two or three small cases, are a veritable desert. The general government has begun to realize the extreme gravity of the situation, and has removed all duties on corn and beans, enabling the poor classes who have any money to purchase food supplies at comparatively low prices. There are several thousand destitute. farmers and laborers throughout this state, however, who are not within the reach of this proffered aid, and their suffering is intense. Even the hardy maguey plant, which usually thrives in ime of drought, is beginning to feel the effect of the intense summer heat and lack of moisture, and is being literally burned up. In the remote districts the people have for the past year lived on the juice of this plant, it being a cool and strengthening drink. There are 2,000 men and several hundred teams employed in the construction of the Mexican International road to this city from Torreon. Following the construction camps are no less than ,000 half-starved Mexicans who make pitiful and constant appeals to the laorers for something to eat. Every night the horses and mules of the camp are corraled, and when the animals are taken out in the morning their places are immediately filled by a hungry, wild and fighting horde of half-clad men, women and children, who grovel in the fresh manure and greedily eat the grains of corn they find in the filthy offal. Whenever one of the animals dies or is accidentally killed, as is often the case, they fall upon the body like vultures and eat the meat raw. These pictures of suffering are not over-Irawn, but, on the contrary, there are daily sights too distressing to be published. In the city of Lerdo, which was few years ago the great industrial and manufacturing center of the state of Coahuila, being located in the midst of what was once the most productive cotton raising country in the world, there is untold suffering among the people. The city government has taken the matter in hand, and large funds have been subscribed by the wealthiest citizens, which is to be expended in the establishing of free lunch rooms for the poor. There has been about 800,000 bushels of corn shipped to Torreon and this city by the state governments from the United States during the past six months. This corn is sold at cost price to the needy, and has lessened the suffering to a great extent. It is estimated that 1,000,000 more bushels will be required to keep the people until next season, provided a crop is then se-cured. The governor of Toluco has contracted for the importation of 160,-000 bushels of corn from the United States to relieve the suffering occasioned by the corn failure in that price. Cases of death from starvation were reported here Friday. NOTHING TOO SEVERE for This Monster Flend-A Farmer's Wife Outraged and Then Murdered. NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 25.-Mrs Bate, the wife of a respectable young farmer-living near Shelbyville, in Bedford county, was outraged and murdered Friday, and there is no clew to the perpetrator of the horrible double erime. The woman was seen last alive by her husband when he went into the field, at an early hour Friday morning. At a bout noon he quit work and went to the house for dinner. His two young children were playing in the yard, but Mrs. Bate was missing. The children said she was in the garden, and Bate went to see what delayed her. She was not in sight, but on the ground there were many footprints and evidences of a struggle, while pieces of his wife's dress were scattered around. Now thoroughly alarmed, Mr. Bate quietly followed a rack through the weeds to his clover patch, and there found the mangled corpse of his wife. She had been dead some time. The corpse was almost nude. Her face was mutilated beyond recognition and her skull was crushed ia by a broken fence-rail, which lay near. She had been outraged and the brute had then murdered her. There is great excitement in and around Shelbyville, and there is no doubt as to the fate of the fiend if he is discovered.

Known By His Heel. SPRINGFIELD, O., June 25 .- The unknown man killed Thursday at the Yellow Springs street crossing, while attempting to get on the car, was identified Friday as Benjamin Steiner, formerly an inmate of the infirmary. The man's right heel had been previously cut off and this served to an extent to facilitate identification.
